The Pullman Works Will Resume Work Within a Week

Springs ield, Ill., July 16 Governor Altgeld was asked hat aight when the troops probably would be withdrawn from Chicago and gave the following statement. I have not considered the sulject of withdrawing the troops from Chicago at all. They may be withdrawn soon and they may put. In depends entrely on the situation. I shall certainly not withdraw them until Mayor Hopkins feels that he can with his police force alone easily maintain order, protect property and enforce the law. I was engaged most of last week in securing arms so as to increuse the force, in case the strike should be greatly extended, and I was prepared to put ten or twelve more regiments in Chicago on a day's notice, if it had been necessary, but as it has not extended much and has worn itself out I suppose the troops can be

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 16 from all quarters of the State word was received sesterday that strikes had made no demonstration. Regular trains are moving on all the main lines of the Southern Pacific system but the precaution is taken not to run trulus lover the mountains at night. The singular feature of the situation, both here and at Sacramenta, is the confidence of the strikers in their ultimate vector; over the southern Pacific. They say that the national arbitration commission will de clids in their favor, and, meanwhile, the southern Pacific cannot get enough men to run their regular trains.

The peacoful grave yard nestled-as it were under the shelter of white walls of the church where generation after gene ration has found quiet and repose, the church itself with its little old fashioned straight back pews, the fat seapstone stove in one corner far removed from the solitary chimney towards which the grim stove pipe in its attempts to reach ties itself into knots, the wheezy organ, the little box like pulpit, all produce that charming effect characteristic of our sleepy old New England towns

Points of interest too numerous to mention abound and those who are addicted to pedestrianism roturn with glowing reports of some new spot discovered, some old nook revisited, or wildly raving over some familiar view seen from new tandpoints.

Tell them that although God seems hard he is not as hard as full that. Tell them that the distorate God seems hard that the two win plaints, where their grant that the own plaints, where their grant either are built and where the corn grows, and where men and women are toiling, sometimes in sorrow and sometimes in joy."

"I wil go," said the Travelor.

And he steps is more stresome than the traoling of them. The ascent, with all the vigor and hope of the phim, had been difficult enough. The descent, with no vigor and me hope to sleep him, was almost impossible.

So that it vigs not probable that the tracked live a cached them or not slill be ind started.
